

Bullying and Harassment

This course explores the attributes of an ethical organisation and leadership that underpin ethical conduct.

Participants will gain a clear understanding of 'bullying and harassment' from both legislative and behavioural perspectives - learning what constitutes such behaviour and what is considered reasonable managerial action.

The training provides an ethical conduct toolkit, essential for maintaining a respectful workplace.

Format: Virtual.

Duration: 1 hour.

Audience: Managers, supervisors, HR professionals, and all employees seeking to understand and prevent bullying and harassment in the workplace.
